Ms. Hagerty:

I recently read the environmental assessment done on the property known as the Camp Daybreak site on the Coralville Reservoir in Johnson County.

31-1 I am shocked at the slipshod data gathering done which would generate such a document so full of errors, omissions and poor measurement.

9-3 The Daybreak Camp was previously operated as a rustic recreational facility. The proposal currently under consideration is certainly not such a camp. It is, according to your data and the press statements of the applicants, a complex of buildings and parking lots which will result in destruction of acres of trees and natural habitat.

6-9

And yet, you have the temerity to expect us to accept that this will have no environmental impact.

9-3 I want to go on record as being intractably against such a plan which would destroy a beautiful public nature preserve for the construction of a motel.

Sincerely,

Margaret Loghry
